

Briefing Note for Fish Friers and Seafood Chefs – re Fish and Shellfish Industry Skills

The Level 2 Fish and Shellfish Industry Skills (FSIS) qualification is not yet appropriate for application in food service and fish and chip businesses as the FSIS framework does not yet contain the necessary food service units.

Seafish are working to rectify this issue as quickly as possible. The Food Industry Skills framework does contain these units, as does the various NVQs available from People 1st.

Seafish and the NFFF are able to provide training and qualifications for managers and friers in the form of taught courses and the Level 3 VRQ. We are also developing for Autumn 2012 a Level 3 FSIS framework which will fully support fish friers with an Advanced apprenticeship framework.

For best advice and guidance on how to benefit from apprenticeships please contact lee Cooper at Seafish on 01482 486482 or email academy@seafish.co.uk

More information can be found at:

<http://www.seafoodacademy.org/TheLibraryGuidesFry.html>

or by downloading this leaflet

Lee Cooper

Seafish

April 2012.